

First advanced instruction diploma in Aylesbury

MR. A. S. JOURA, Principal of the International School of Driving was presented with a special diploma on Monday which enables him to give advanced driving instruction.

He is the first man in Aylesbury to receive the diploma. It was presented to him by the Mayor of Aylesbury, Ald. Mrs. Zena Williams, before a meeting of Aylesbury Borough Council's Accident Prevention Committee.

Special course

Mr. Joura, who has lived in Aylesbury 10 years, attended a special course in London, where he qualified for the diploma, which is awarded by the League of Safe Drivers.

Mr. Joura has only been a full-time instructor for a few months. He formerly worked on the railway.
